

What's on your roof?

Patios, gardens, a swimming pool or restaurant? Many roofs have public areas that require proper maintenance and rooftop safety measures.

It's fun, but it's still a roof

While rooftop features add value to your building, they add complexity and risk.

How GRS will help:

We will craft a maintenance program that is specific to your multifaceted roof design or enhancements. Services include:

- Install and maintain rooftop enhancements
- Manage irrigation systems for green roofs
- Maintain or improve drainage systems to prevent ponding
- Safety barriers at perimeters and pathways
- Trip hazard mitigation and safety inspections
- Manage roof safety & proactive hazard elimination by keeping current on inspections

Why choose GRS?

Roof work is different. Untrained people using the wrong tools or processes will damage roof membranes and structures. Our OSHA trained service teams are certified to work on all major commercial roof systems.

We're on top of your roof

Built on safety, quality, and craftsmanship

Established in 1992 in Worcester, Massachusetts, Greenwood Industries is now one of the Top 10 commercial roofing and building envelope systems contractors in the United States.

With locations across the Northeast and more than 1,000 people on the job today, we have the capacity and the expertise to perform at any scale. We are signatory to 17 union contracts, because we value the integrity of skilled labor and are committed to providing jobs that sustain families and communities.

Greenwood began on the roof, the heritage of three generations of roofers in our founder's family. Today we are a full-service roof and building envelope company, with engineering, installation, and service divisions, plus our own metal fabrication shops. The Greenwood group also includes TWC Phoenix, the regional leader in the fields of waterproofing, air/vapor barriers, masonry services and more.

Whether it's one building or an entire campus, Greenwood Industries is ready to serve your building envelope needs from design to installation and ongoing service.

About Greenwood Building Envelope Services
