

Roof safety is not by accident

Comprehensive roof safety is a managed process that GRS has honed over years of experience with every class of commercial roof.

Know the danger zones

Most roof injuries occur when getting on or off at perilous access points; or slips, trips and falls on unsafe walkways, crossovers, platforms and unprotected perimeters.

How GRS will help:

We will begin with a safety audit and create specific plan to mitigate the risks on your roof. The safety measures may include:

- Improve roof access points with new gates, handrails and treads
- Install or repair anchor points and tie-downs
- Create safe walkways to and around mechanical units
- Install or repair perimeter guard rails
- Inspect and mark drainage structures and skylights
- Install or repair crossovers for pipes, electrical conduits or other structures

Why choose GRS?

Our technicians are certified to work on all major commercial roof systems—that protects your warranty. Everyone on our team trains monthly above and beyond OSHA standards. We routinely handle historic buildings, the latest metal and composite systems, LEED Certified solar, and green roofing projects.

Safety is not a luxury.

Built on safety, quality, and craftsmanship

Established in 1992 in Worcester, Massachusetts, Greenwood Industries is now one of the Top 10 commercial roofing and building envelope systems contractors in the United States.

With locations across the Northeast and more than 1,000 people on the job today, we have the capacity and the expertise to perform at any scale. We are signatory to 17 union contracts, because we value the integrity of skilled labor and are committed to providing jobs that sustain families and communities.

Greenwood began on the roof, the heritage of three generations of roofers in our founder's family. Today we are a full-service roof and building envelope company, with engineering, installation, and service divisions, plus our own metal fabrication shops.

The Greenwood group also includes TWC Phoenix, the regional leader in the fields of waterproofing, air/vapor barriers, masonry services and more.

Whether it's one building or an entire campus, Greenwood Industries is ready to serve your building envelope needs from design to installation and ongoing service.

About Greenwood Building Envelope Services

Greenwood Building Envelope Services is the professional maintenance division of Greenwood Industries. We plan and execute customized programs to maintain, repair or upgrade roof and building envelope systems. We will help protect your building(s) and the business that goes on within. When emergency strikes, we're on call 24-7 for our clients.
